DETAILED ACTION

Original claims 2-3 are canceled.

Claims 4-37 are withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 38-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over May (US 6,317,727) in view of Tozzoli (US 5,717,989).

Re. Claim 1, May discloses applying a host qualification test to the participant (credit screening -- col. 6 lines 12-13), assigning qualification trading parameters to the participant based upon the host qualification test (color codes – col. 6 lines 35-42; col. 30 lines 20-35), assigning qualification trading parameters to the participant (col. 27 lines 55-64; Figure 7 -- creditworthiness and levels), and determining whether the party qualifies to trade in the electronic trading system [see the entire document particularly: Abs; figures 1-32; C6 L12-L62; C54 L63 to C55 L20].

May, explicitly, does not disclose applying a third-party qualification test.

However, Tozzoli discloses this step (see setting limits and credit agency ratings) [read entire document particularly, Abstract; Figures 1-2, 4; C1 L5-L35; C3 L57 to C4 L26; C4

L50-L63; C5 L35-L60; C6 L20-L32; claims] to shield seller form risk of non-payment and buyer compliance of seller with the original purchase order. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to combine the disclosures of May and Tozzoli to facilitate trading qualifications of a buyer and a seller, and shield the buyer and seller from trade risk.

Re. Claim 38, May, explicitly, does not disclose bypassing the third party qualification test when the participant passes the host qualification test. However, Tozzoli discloses this step [C6 L20-L32 – see funder may elect ...] to accelerate the process. It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify disclosure of May and add bypassing third party qualification, as taught by Tozzoli, to make the qualification easy for immediate approval of profile.

Re. Claim 39, May discloses a measure of a number of trades made by the participant, and a measure of an amount of trades made by the participant, and a measure of volatility in a market in which the participant is participating, and a measure of a range of prices in the market in which the participant is participating, and a measure of volume in the market in which the participant is participating [Abs; C1 L50 to C2 L65].

Re. Claim 40, May discloses applying to the participant a qualification test that evaluates whether the participant qualifies to trade with a second participant that is qualified to trade with a third participant, and determining that the participant qualifies to trade in the electronic trading system with the third participant based upon the participant qualifying to trade with the second participant (by the other) [C56 L54-60]. Further, in currency trade only larger banks and financial institutions are able to do cross boarder currency trade because of money laundering and regulations, smaller banks have to trade through larger banks whom qualifies them to buy and sell foreign currency to end parties as an agent or third party.

Re. Claim 41-42, are rejected with same rational as claim 1.
